Local Delegation Makes Final Effort to Secure Rubber Plant

BULLETIN

Four of the local delegation were granted a half-hour audience with the Dayton Rubber Plant board of directors this afternoon. They were Congressman Gray, Cecil Sullivan, Bob Davenport and Richard Poston.

A last stand to bring the Dayton Rubber Products plant to this area is being made by a delegation from Saline county, supported by Congressman Kenneth Gray and Dick Poston of Southern Illinois University.

The Dayton Rubber stockholders' meeting was scheduled for this morning and the board of directors' meeting for this afternoon.

Decision on locating the plant somewhere in the middle west is scheduled to be made at the board of directors' meeting.

Until about two weeks ago it was indicated the site selected would be between Raleigh and Galatia, but contrary moves since that time have been discouraging.

Bob Davenport of Harrisburg and Mr. Poston have been in Chicago and Dayton since the middle of last week, continuing the efforts of this area to secure the plant, and they were joined by a delegation leaving Harrisburg Saturday.

Included in the party were Don Williams, W. K. "Tim" Turner, J. Cecil Sullivan, Pat Sullivan, Rob Roy Brown and Joe Butler. Ralph Chissoer was scheduled to come from a vacation in Miami to join the group, and Congressman Gray arrived by plane from Washington.

Turner, representing The Daily

Register, telegraphed today that Sunday and Sunday night were devoted to scores of telephone calls to various people in an attempt to get the delegation into the meeting today.

Attendance of the enlarged delegation was decided upon after L. P. Kennedy, top man on site recommendations, told Davenport and Poston that the local site would not be recommended. He admitted the site would be feasible from every point brought up, but said he had other sites "just a little better."

Davenport and Poston argued local point merits with Kennedy for hours Saturday and Sunday night, also presenting the local case to Paul Mayle, executive vice president, who will be elected to the board of directors today.

Countless telephone calls were made by Congressman Gray, Cecil Sullivan and Poston, including a contact with Fay Ellis of Ellis Truck Lines who called A. L. Freeland, Dayton board chairman, about getting the delegation into the meeting, and Freeland said he would bring up the matter.

One favorable break was that B. G. McCloud Jr. of Chicago spent time in the room of the local contingent Sunday night and said: "I'm on your team boys." He also will make a move to get the local delegation into the board meeting.

All through the parleys and phone calls Dayton principals have said that if perseverance and spirit were requisites, the plant definitely would go to the Saline county area.

But right now, it is slated elsewhere.

Dr. Rowland Myers, Expert on English Language to Address Dinner Club March 1

Dr. Rowland M. Myers, an etymologist who has taught in five American universities will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Southern Illinois Dinner Club Saturday evening, March 1 at the Kurto country club.

The meeting will begin at 6:30 p. m. Dr. Myers has spent a quarter of a century in the research end of the English language and has studied in the universities of France, Germany, Italy, Spain and Mexico. He was selected to teach a course in literature to American officer personnel in England at the government's Military school.

"The average high school and college student seems to have a natural apathy toward the study of literature," declares Dr. Myers. "The method in which it has been taught probably is as much to blame as anything. Actually there isn't anything more universally useful than knowing something about the English language and the history and trans formation of its words."

Officers of the Dinner club urge members who have children in high school to bring them to the meeting as they will be especially interested in the address by this expert on the English language.

A varied background which includes wide military service in World War II probably gives Dr. Myers an outlook many professors of literature have missed. The famed etymologist commanded an anti-aircraft artillery battery and served in both the Intelligence and Psychological warfare sections of the Army.

Saline County Well Represented at Meeting at Anna

Saline county was well represented at a meeting held at the Anna State hospital Sunday to set up a storm warning system for southern Illinois. The county had the second largest representation of this area. The response was especially pleasing to Ray W. Altmire, Civil Defense director for Saline county, who was present with Mrs. Altmire.

Others in the group were: James T. Beers of the Harrisburg Township high school; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Morris and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Priest of the Harrisburg city schools; James Land, Dr. John D. Slightom, Ivan Wilson and Virgil Ferrell of the Saline County Board of Supervisors.

Amos H. Pulliam, representing the Eldorado city school board, Mayor and Mrs. Freeman O'Keefe and son of Carrier Mills; Ben Gibbs, Civil Defense director of Eldorado, and Guy A. DeNeal, radiac instructor for Civil Defense.

Mr. Altmire today announced the appointment of Guy A. DeNeal co-ordinator, whose duties will be to work with all of the Civil Defense directors of Saline county. Mr. DeNeal is a Ground Observer post supervisor in Independence township in which capacity he has served for the past five years. He also is one of the radiac instructors for Saline county.

GOP Retaliates Against Sharp Blast by Truman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans today trumpeted a massive retaliation against former President Truman's "give 'em hell" denunciation of the Eisenhower administration.

They charged that Truman in his Jefferson-Jackson Day speech here was guilty of "dime-a-dance oratory" forgetful about flaws in his own administration, insincere about civil rights and callous toward the unemployed.

A spokesman for the Republican National Committee confirmed that the almost unprecedented avalanche of mimeographed anti-Truman broadsides was somewhat coordinated from committee headquarters.

"We decided we should not stand for being belabored," he said. "We felt we couldn't just take this—we should answer him."

Led by GOP National Chairman Meade ALCorn, the Republicans charged Truman with raising a "red herring" and with uttering "typical Truman claptrap... wild and reckless charges... carping, petty criticism."

Many chided the former Democratic President for making his "untruthful" speech on the birthday of George Washington, "the man who never told a lie."

All defended President Eisenhower's defense, domestic and foreign policies. Most compared economic conditions in the past Roosevelt and Truman administrations unfavorably with conditions even in the current business slump.

The former President made his attack on the President and the GOP administration at a $100-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner here Saturday night.

In his best Republican-baiting form, Truman accused the administration of leading the nation into a "Republican recession" that threatens economic disaster, of weakening U. S. defenses, and of damaging the free world alliance in its handling of foreign policy.

President Urges Common Sense By All Americans

Remarks Viewed As Reply to Attack by Truman

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower called today for "courage and common sense" by all Americans to prevent the current recession from becoming more serious.

"At this time is no time to listen to men of little faith and little spirit," the President said.

"Now is the time for courage and common sense that will prevent a dip in the economy and employment from becoming serious."

The President made his latest "chins up" remarks before the National Food Conference.

"The economy of this country is a lot stronger than the spirit of those people I see walling about it and saying it is no good," Eisenhower said.

The President's remarks were viewed, in part, as a reply to former President Truman's attack on the Eisenhower administration in a speech here Saturday night.

Truman, addressing a $100-a-plate Democratic campaign dinner, had accused the Eisenhower administration of leading the nation into a "Republican recession" that threatens economic disaster.

Eisenhower said America is not always "at tip-top form" in its economy, and is not now.

"Let's not be trapped into making expenditures which have no useful purpose," the President said. "Let's do it by doing things that need to be done."

The President said the federal government has a number of public works projects "on the shelf" and ready to be used.

Wallace Feazel Resigns As Caretaker of Sunset Hill Cemetery

Darnell has not yet filled the vacancy, but will do so within a few days.

Rescuers Digging with Spoons Free Man Trapped in Well Cave-In CAMBRIDGE CITY, Ind. (AP)—Rescue workers digging carefully with spoons freed a 42-year-old man trapped for eight hours Sunday when a small cave-in buried him to his armpits.

The situation was so delicate that state police re-routed highway traffic away from the area for fear vibrations would loose more gravel on the nearly buried man.

Wilbur (Pete) Harold was caught 16 feet below the surface when the sides of the well caved in as he was digging for a broken drill point in the basement of his home in nearby East German town.

His helpers, Paul Stone and Park Sourbeer, alerted police and about 100 rescue workers rushed to the scene.

A barrel-like structure was placed over Harold to prevent him from being buried alive by falling gravel, and oxygen was administered throughout the long ordeal.

Because of the narrow size of the hole, only one man at a time could dig, and the cramped work man had to be relieved every half-hour.

The rescuers used a small spoon about four inches in diameter.

WHY SECRET SERVICE MEN GET GRAY—President Eisenhower relaxed in a wagon seat on the George Humphrey estate at Thomasville, Ga., as he talked to reporters before going quail hunting while on vacation. What caused secret service men to quake was that shotgun, muzzle end up, pointed right at the President's chin. One of several gun-handling boo-boos committed by the President, it was interpreted by reporters as being not so much a serious violation of safety rules as a display of impatience with having to submit to questioning and photography.

Eisenhower Returns to Capital After Detour to Phoenix, Arizona

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower came back to the nation's capital today from a 10-day vacation in Georgia, a 3,000-mile detour and a round of golf in sun-baked Arizona.

His Arizona host-for-a-day said the President had such a good time Sunday he hopes to return in two weeks for a four-day visit.

The President flew home from Moultrie, Ga., by way of Phoenix, Ariz.—a trip of about 3,825 miles compared with 750 from Moultrie to Washington—to drop Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower and two friends at a health and beauty resort.

He played 18 holes of golf at Phoenix, dined with Mrs. Eisenhower and went to bed aboard his personal plane Columbine III for a night trip home.

The Chief Executive cancelled because of his delayed return to the capital a long-standing date to greet a breakfast meeting today of the National Food Conference.

The President had been scheduled to address the conference but Vice President Richard M. Nixon substituted for him. Eisenhower, however, planned to drop by the conference later with Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson to "extend greetings" to the delegates.

Charles B. Shuman, general manager of the breakfast meeting, and president of the American Farm Bureau Federation said the President's appearance had been arranged eight or nine months ago and added that he thought Eisenhower's advisers had "made a bad mistake" in cancelling it.

Eisenhower was at his White House desk 44 minutes after arriving from Phoenix. His call on the food conference delegates was sandwiched between meetings with Nixon and Benson and a conference this afternoon with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

In Phoenix, Eugene C. Pulliam publisher of the Arizona Republic and Phoenix Gazette, with whom the President played golf, quoted Eisenhower as saying: "I haven't felt as good in six months as I do right now."

Pulliam said the President planned to do everything he can to re-arrange his schedule and return for a long weekend when Mrs. Eisenhower finishes what is expected to be a two-week visit at Elizabeth Arden's exclusive Maine Chance resort for women.

Inland Press Speaker Attacks News Secrecy by Federal Gov't

CHICAGO (AP)—V. M. (Red) Newton Jr., managing editor of the Tampa (Fla.) Tribune, today attacked a "stifling curtain of secrecy" draped over virtually all the federal executive government.

Attempts to tear the "curtain" aside have led to serious proposals to throw "free American citizens and editors in jail for the great crime of the dissemination of news of government," Newton said.

In a morning address to more than 350 midwestern newspaper executives attending the spring meeting of the Inland Daily Press Assn., Newton likened such counter-measures to the Alien and Sedition Act of 1798.

Newton said that newspaper editors need the support of publishers in confronting the threefold threat of secrecy, hostility, and the "mushrooming maze of federal bureaucracy which today places a restraining finger upon every phase of living of every free American citizen."

Although records of tax spending and audited reports are available to citizens on the city, county and state level, Newton said, no records of federal expenditures of tax funds or audited reports are open to inspection.

Newton cited four measures proposed in 1957 by federal agencies providing fines and jail terms for publishing so-called "secret" information and disclosing the actions of certain "executive sessions."

"Is not this arrogant attitude of Washington, 1957, just a step or so away from the general practice in Krushchev's Communist Russia?" he asked.

Newton, who also is chairman of the freedom of information committee of the national honorary journalism fraternity Sigma Delta Chi, said that a survey showed that "more than 1,200 congressional committee meetings are held in secrecy each year with both press and public barred."

Seized by Two Gunmen in Crowded Lobby

Life of Champion Racer Is Not Believed in Danger

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Cuban rebels kidnaped Argentine auto racer Juan Manuel Fangio at gunpoint Sunday night in a daring raid aimed at embarrassing the government of President Fulgencio Batista.

Fangio, five times world auto racing champion, was marched out of a crowded lobby in a downtown hotel by two gunmen while his bodyguard and friends looked on helplessly. He was hustled into a jeep which raced off into the darkness.

Fangio's life was not believed in danger. The rebel underground had threatened to spoil Cuba's greatest sports event—today's $10,000 Grand Prix—but was not believed prepared to go so far as to harm Fangio.

Immediately after the kidnapping police set up roadblocks at all the main intersections and mounted special guards at all private and commercial airports. Guards also were assigned to all other foreign drivers competing in the race.

The government announced that the Grand Prix would go on as scheduled.

It assigned 1,500 army troops to the track to protect the drivers and prevent any rebel attempt to break up the race.

Fangio had been Batista's choice to win the Grand Prix again. The 46-year-old Argentine won last year's race and posted the fastest time in the trial runs Sunday.

The kidnapping had all the marks of a carefully planned operation. Eyewitnesses said Fangio's identification apparently was definitely established by a man who reeled into the lobby of the Lincoln Hotel shouting "Viva Fangio!"

The man pushed his way through to Fangio and began telling the Argentine how much he admired him. Fangio gave the apparently drunken man a goodnatured brush-off.

A few moments later, according to the witnesses, a man wearing a black leather jacket entered and walked directly up to Fangio, who was talking to four friends. The man pulled out a gun and said "Come with me." A second armed man fell in behind Fangio as he walked out of the lobby.

Rebels Identify Selves
A few minutes later, newspapers and news agencies received telephone calls from unidentified persons reporting the kidnapping. The caller said: "This is the 26th of July speaking. We kidnaped Juan Manuel Fangio at 8:55 p. m."

The 26th of July movement is headed by Fidel Castro whose rebel forces have harassed government troops in southeastern Oriente Province for more than a year.

First official confirmation of Fangio's abduction came from Brig. Gen. Roberto Fernandez Miranda, Batista's brother-in-law, who is also director of the National Sports Commission.

The Investigation Upoar

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
The special House subcommittee looking into the FCC and other regulatory agencies is moving ahead now under a new compulsion to conduct a really searching investigation of their activities.

It has been put on the spot by the uproar which attended the firing of the committee counsel, Dr.
Bernard Schwartz of New York University.

Yet fair-minded citizens need have no regrets that Schwartz himself is no longer involved in the inquiry. His outbursts on the occasion of his dismissal showed him to be thoroughly unqualified for the role of investigator.

With a wave of a hand in the direction of his files, he declared he had enough evidence to prove that certain key members of the Eisenhower administration "controlled" the decisions of the regulatory agencies. But his statement was so worded as to amount to "conviction" in advance of the presentation of proof.

This is a practice that many thoughtful Americans rose up in protest against at the height of the anti-Communist furor in this country. They grew weary of having the hanging announced before the trial.

Such irresponsibility has no place in a sober congressional inquiry.
The rules protecting individuals against the wild charge, the unproved assertion of guilt, must be applied impartially, no matter what political party is in power.
Civil rights do not stop at party borders.

Earnestly pursued, this current investigation may well turn up evidence of unwise or improper interference both by some members of Congress and representatives of the Administration with the activities of the FCC and other bodies.

These agencies are intended to be truly independent, free of pressures either from the industries and activities they regulate or from political sources in the executive branch, on Capitol Hill, or anywhere else.

Let the committee show just how well the agencies maintain that independence. And let the country know who, if anyone, dares to encroach upon their freedom to regulate fairly and fully in the interests of the whole nation.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Recorded Conversation With Commissioner Mack Shows
Damning Admissions; Mack Said He Didn't Like National Airlines But Voted For Them
Anyway; Says He Repaid
Whiteside Loans In Cash.

WASHINGTON. — House Commerce Chairman Oren Harris (D., Ark.), who is now in the unhappy position of investigating FCC scandals that he had tried to suppress, is juggling a tiny spool of wire as if it were radioactive.

It contains the recorded confession of FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack that he accepted money—part of which he described as "gifts, advances, or what-have-you"—from Thurman Whiteside, the Miami attorney who asked him to grant a multi-million-dollar television license to National Airlines. Mack also admitted in the recording telling witnesses that he had pledged his vote to Whiteside, a vote which he later cast in favor of awarding Channel 10 in Miami to the airline.

Harris doesn't know what to do with the sizzling evidence which House investigators Herbert Wachtell and Paul Berger obtained by hiding a miniature wire recorder in a briefcase while they cross-examined Mack in his office January 17.

Here are highlights of the recorded conversation:
Speaking with a plaintive drawl, Mack claimed that he had "borrowed" the money from Whiteside, but admitted that he would sometimes call up and say,
"I can't pay you," and his generous friend would say "forget it."

"Then you've received money from Whiteside and he's told you not to repay?" asked an investigator.

"Yes," replied Mack. "He'd say
'forget it.' What would you do?"

Asked how much had not been repaid, the commissioner assured the investigators that "it isn't any big amount, if I may put it that way."

He described the loans as "casual amounts," then blurted, "I think I could call up Mr. Whiteside right now on the telephone and tell him I need a thousand dollars and he would send it to me."

NOT SO FRANK WITH COMMITTEE

At this point Mack apparently got uneasy, and added hastily,
"I am talking with you very frankly. I won't be as frank with the committee."

Mack also disclosed that he had originally favored one of the other applicants for Channel 10, L.
B. Wilson, Inc. "If Mr. Wilson hadn't died," Mack said, "I'd've voted for him."

"When I go down there," Mack said stoutly, "they can hang me or shoot me, I don't care, but I'm not going to say I don't like Mr.
Katzentine."

The commissioner spoke sadly of the controversy over Channel 10. "I got into a hassle down there, the like of which I've never seen in my life. I've never been so amazed. . . I didn't want to vote, but I felt like if I don't vote some way everybody's gonna be mad at me." Later he added: "This darn thing was like a snowball going down the hill."

Commissioner Mack admitted that Whiteside had talked to him about Channel 10. When the investigators asked who Whiteside represented, Mack retorted, "this you know without asking."

"I know where he stood," said the investigator. "What I'm curious to know is where he told you he stood."

"Oh, he was very much concerned about public service. No question about it," replied Mack.
He referred to National Airlines, wholly owned subsidiary, Public Service Television, Inc.

Mack suggested that Whiteside was probably more anti-Katzentine than pro-National Airlines.

"But for one reason or another,"
an investigator observed
"the outcome of it was that he was working for public service."

NO RECORDS OF PAYMENTS

Mack also made the point that he voted for the airline-owned public service television despite the fact that he didn't even like some of the people in the company.

"I know too much about 'em," he explained.

"Who?" an investigator demanded.

"Well, I don't think I ought to tell you, but I just want to tell you that," said Mack.

"Well," persisted the investigator, "you say you know too much about them. In what sense?"

"Well, you've got to remember," Mack explained, "that I was a credit manager in Miami for a long time."

The commissioner also hinted that, if called on the witness stand, he might implicate an unnamed senator.

"I can show you a letter from a senator . . ." he said. "I was rather amused to get it because he wants a definite commitment out of me."

The investigators ignored this crack and pressed the commissioner for more details about his financial arrangements with Attorney Whiteside.

"None of my financial dealings with Mr. Whiteside have ever in any manner affected my vote," Mack stressed.

The investigators asked how he had repaid the loans from Whiteside.

Mack claimed he kept no records of what he owed but offered to call Whiteside to find out.

Aside from a mortgage repayment by cashier's check, he said, all the money had been paid back in cash.

"You think that when you repaid him," an investigator repeated, "you repaid him in cash?"

"Yes," said Mack, hesitating
"I'm trying to remember."

He broke in hopefully at this point with the observation that "I've borrowed more money from banks than from Mr. Whiteside."

"Then your best recollection is that when you paid Mr. Whiteside it was by cash, not bank check," the investigators pressed.

"That's right," Mack agreed.
Mack complained to the investigators that he had "a hard time to make a living."

"I hope you're better than I am for your own good," Mack said, "but I have never been able through circumstances to make a lot of money."

He complained that he was neither a professional man nor an engineer, and that if he left the FCC he would have to go out and look for a job. At his age, he said sadly, probably the only job he could get would be as "an attendant in a filling station."

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

During this Lenten period many people will express their faith in Christ. They will renew their fellowship with God. The multitudes turned to Jesus during these last few weeks of His ministry. Yet they deserted Him before the end.

Every Christian must set his course during these coming weeks so that he will be able to remain steadfast to the end. We have an advantage over His early followers. We know that He still lives.
We know that the Cross was not to end His existence.

We can follow Him more easily than did the crowds who entered Jerusalem with Him. There are still questions to be answered. Do we have the determination to give up everything for Him? Do we love

Him and our fellow men enough?
Have we given ourselves completely into His care?

The Last Sundown

by L. P. HOLMES

XXIV

That evening Ward Sebastian and Sam Lester brought the loaded pack string in at the ranch. Old Bob Gayle tramped over to open a corral gate and Connie stole that way herself, startled at the stir of eagerness she knew at this arrival. She heard Bob Gayle say something to Sam Lester, and clearly caught Sam's answer.

"No trouble at all along the trail. But at the Timberlodge Bar in town, Jake Ruby came up in back of Ward, threw a gun. He was aiming to get Ward without giving Ward a chance. But Ward killed him in the shoot-out. Ward's plenty low in mood. He ain't spoke 20 words since we pulled out of Yreka yesterday mornin'."

"But he did kill Jake Ruby?"

"He killed him, all right."

Connie's eyes grew big as the picture took form in her mind. A saloon in Yreka. Violence—the gunfire kind of violence which left a dead man on the floor. Killed by Ward Sebastian.

She went quietly back to the ranch house, to her room. And there she stayed until she heard the deeper voices of men in the kitchen and Kitty Dutra came to call her to supper.

Her first glance was for Sebastian. He stood over by the stove, his hands behind him. His big shoulders sagged and he was quiet and withdrawn. He stirred as Connie came in, glanced at her briefly, murmured, "Good evening. Your trunk is here." Then he went off again into his locked-away thoughts.

He kept within the same mood when they sat at the table, eating mechanically, saying nothing. Afterwards, Ward Sebastian pushed back his chair, reached for his pipe.

Food, the solace of tobacco, seemed to loosen him up and melow him. For when Sam Lester and Bob Gayle went out to take care of some chores, he addressed himself to Connie.

"You're being well cared for?"

"Much too well and much too kindly," she assured him. "And I've been making friends with your books. You don't mind?"

"Mind?" His eyes brightened. "Just the opposite. Lately I've neglected them. Some are rather good, don't you think?"

"Very good," Connie said.

A little haltingly at first, almost self-consciously, the words came. But gradually he eased and settled back in his chair, while one reminiscence led to another and still another until it became a dam of pent-up feeling giving way. Watching, listening, Connie Ashland understood.

BARE OUTLOOK—Record cold in February gives little indication that March will come in "like a lamb," but Carole Chambliss, Southern Illinois University junior from Marion, poses long enough to suggest that a traditionally good fishing month for Carbondale area lakes is just around the corner. Today, however, the fish are icebound and the outlook is bare. (SIU Photo Service)

Miriam Circle of WSCS Formed at Methodist Church By High School-Age Girls

A group of nine high school-age girls met Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Katherine Mode, director of religious education of the Harrisburg First Methodist church, to organize and elect officers for a new circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service. The movement to organize this age group is being sponsored by the Wesleyan Service Guild, a group of working women within the WSCS organization. This new group cannot be called a Guild until a sufficient number of the members are financially employed.

The following officers were elected: Doris Williams, chairman; Elizabeth Gidcomb, program chairman; and Susan Peak, secretary-treasurer. They have named their circle the Miriam circle and their meetings will be held on the second Tuesday of each month.

Those present were Misses Mari-dell Armistead, Carol Butler, Elizabeth Gidcomb, Janet Hall, Mary Schwartz, Peggy O'Neal, Doris Williams, Mary Gibbs, Susan Peak and Miss Alice Mount, the president of the Senior unit of Wesleyan Service Guild.

Miss Mode served refreshments after adjournment of the business of the evening.

W.M.S. First Baptist Church Holds Royal Service Program

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church held its regular monthly Royal Service meeting at the church Thursday. Mrs. D. H. Hiller presided and reports of the committee chairmen were heard.

Names of Southern Baptist missionaries were read and Mrs. Hubert Hawkins led in a prayer for them. Mrs. Charles Kelly read scriptures from Exodus 6:4-9 and chapter 13:1-10, often called the Jewish declaration of faith. Mrs. Stella McNulty narrated the history of Exodus and Mrs. Guy Lawrence, program chairman, announced the program theme, "Doorposts and Gates." Mrs. McNulty explained the uses in the Jewish faith of symbols on display at the meeting including the Mezuzah, the Phylactery, the Shofar, the Torah, the Talith and Hallah.

Mrs. Mima Woolard, Mrs. Marian Lane, Mrs. John Sisk and Mrs. Bob Burnett, gave the mission topics and Mrs. Burnett closed the meeting with prayer.

Connie VanderPlum was taken to the Lightner hospital Sunday evening for treatment of a lung congestion which has been bothering him for some time.

He caught himself up finally, showing something not far from consternation.

"How I've been going on! Why didn't you shut me up?" He shook his head as though bewildered. "I don't understand what came over me to have punished you with all that talk."

She smiled at him, slightly misty of eye. "The need was in you. I've been fascinated."

"You understood, didn't you? And I needed that."

He moved to the door and her words followed him.

"You spoke of it casually, of heading east into the lake and lava country in the morning. I've come to have a deep fear of that place. Take care of yourself."

Her eyes were gray and fault lessly clear to their very depths, and her lips curved in a faint, sweet smiling.

He nodded and nodded again.

"Yes, you do understand. Stay long with us, Constance Ashland. Stay long with us!"

Col. Frank Wheaton was a tall, gaunt, loosely-put-together man with deep-set eyes and the long, sober face of a scholar. Under lowering skies he stood on the lifting slope of rocky earth below the point of a blunt-nosed ridge and, minutely and with care, surveyed the sweep of country. Lowering his field glasses he turned to the officer at his elbow.

"Dillon, I don't like it any better than I did the first time I looked at it."

Capt. Judson Dillon, lean and taut and with smoky black eyes, stirred restlessly. "They won't attack, so we have to. And it will soon be over."

Colonel Wheaton shook his head. "I'd like to share your confidence, but I don't. What do you see on that land out there? Just a sweep of sage and other brush, scabbled here and there with ancient lava. And apparently lifeless. But when you watch closely, you see that it isn't lifeless. Here and there a thin stain of woodsmoke seeps up. Modoc Indians are out there, Dillon: Kentipoo—Captain Jack and his people. We don't see them but they're there. And when we attack they'll still be there, and we won't see them. But they will see us, and only too well! No, I don't like it."

Captain Dillon twitched impatient shoulders. "How many of them, Colonel—against our hundreds?"

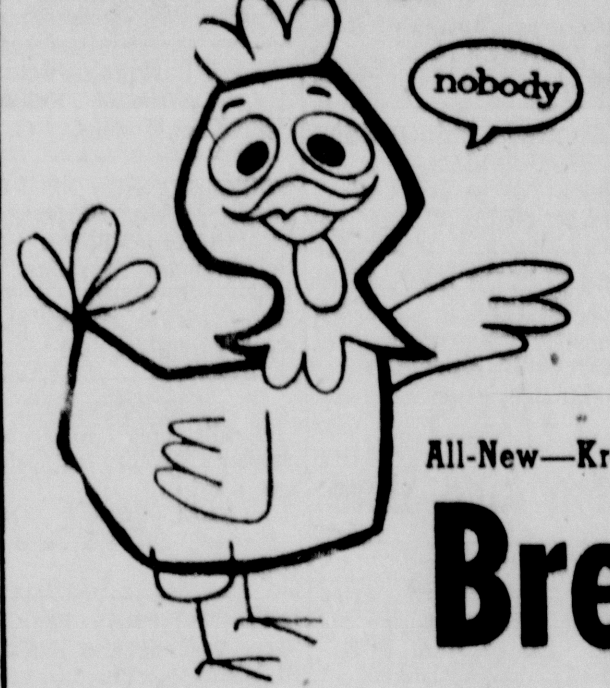

"Something between 50 and 60, according to my scout advices. However, military history is full of instances where a handful of brave and desperate men, fighting from a position of their own choosing, have exacted wicked toll

In Memoriam
In memory of our husband and father, Jesse J. Lee, who passed away three years ago today on Feb. 24, 1955:
We have lost our life loved one,
A life linked with our own;
And every day we miss him more,
As we go through life alone.

No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who have lost can tell
Of the grief we bear in silence,
For the one we loved so well.

We never knew that hearts could ache
With such a bitter pain,
Longing for a vanished face,
To hear his voice again.

We never knew that nights
Could be so lonely, cold and dim,
But oh, we learned so many things
Because of losing him.

If all the world were ours to give,
We would give it all and more,
To see his face we loved so dear,
Come smiling through the door.
Sadly missed by wife and daughter, Wanda and Jacqueline Ann. *201-1

News from the State Capitol

A record of 104 county fairs and exhibitions may be held in Illinois this year, according to a tentative list released by Stillman J. Starn, director of the state Department of Agriculture.

A total of 101 fairs operated in 1957. The all-time high was 1956 when 103 exhibitions were held. Despite a drop in the number of fairs last year, estimated attendance rose to 2,213,866, an increase of some 24,000 over 1956.

Combined premiums offered by the 101 fairs in 1957 totaled $2,593,924. Actual premiums awarded by these exhibitions amounted to $2,051,624. State aid to county fairs for premiums aggregated $1,072,374, of which $999,994 has been paid. A deficiency appropriation of $72,380 to pay the remainder will be sought at the next session of the legislature. Thirteen fairs operating in the fair and exposition fund received $693,309 for construction and financing of non-agricultural exhibits.

Governor William G. Stratton purchased the first Illinois State Parks windshield sticker which will permit entrance to 31 Illinois State Parks, beginning April 1 when the new State Parks Admission law becomes effective. Director Glen D. Palmer of the Department of Conservation presented the No. 1 sticker to the governor in the Capitol.

Governor Stratton declared that "funds obtained through the sale of these $2 stickers and other admission fees to 31 of our larger parks will be used for construction of new permanent facilities designed to provide more and better recreation for a growing Illinois."

Fees will be collected at Apple River Canyon, Black Hawk, Illinois Beach, Lowden Memorial, Lake Le-Aqua-Na, Mississippi Plaisades, White Pines Forest, Illinois Kankakee River, Matthiessen, Starved Rock, Fox Ridge, Lincoln Trail, Ramsey Lake, Splitter Woods, Beaver Dam, Cahokia Mounds, Ft. Seek Missing Bride-to-Be

NEW YORK — Police issued a 13-state alarm today for a tiny, 29-year-old seamstress who disappeared Saturday just five hours before her scheduled wedding.

In the few square blocks of Brooklyn which held virtually all the life of Irene Arzedi, they checked door-to-door, cellar-to-cellar and rooftop-to-rooftop on the chance the pretty, dark-haired young woman had been abducted between her home and the drug store where she was last seen.

Two mysterious telephone calls were received at the girls' home, one about midnight Saturday and another at 2:40 p. m. Sunday. Both were answered by the missing girl's brother, Carlo, 26. He said he could hear a man talking to someone else in the distance but the caller in each case hung up without speaking to him.

Miss Arzedi and Joseph Pinto, 31, were to have been married at 4 p. m. Saturday. The couple lived, with their families, in the same apartment building. They had gone through grammar school together, had dated steadily for the last two years and had been engaged for a year. Miss Arzedi had worked as a sewing machine operator at a sportswear plant around the corner from her home since graduating from high school.

Annual 'Round-Up' By Presbyterian Men's Bible Class

The Harry Barter Men's Bible class of the First Presbyterian church held its annual "round-up" Sunday, including a dinner-business meeting Sunday evening.

Several years ago the class attendance was down and interest lagging but under the leadership of the late Harry Barter, class teacher, the enrollment and attendance was greatly increased. Date of the upsurge was the fourth Sunday in February and each year since that date has been established as "round-up" Sunday.

Last Sunday there were more than twenty present for Sunday school and that evening thirty-five members and guests met in the lower rooms of the Presbyterian church for a dinner meeting.

Following the buffet dinner class president Byron Moore conducted a short business meeting and officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Kenneth Wiley, president; Joe Hollingsworth vice president; Elvie Gidcumb secretary; Jack Smith sergeant-at-arms.

Russell Malan, class teacher, spoke briefly and declared "there are no sidelines in the class. Every member actively participates in the discussions. As long as we have an active class we will have a successful class."

The men's chorus—Vern Joyner, Dave Simmons, Elvie Gidcumb, Jack Smith and Omer Owens, accompanied by George Brown—sang two numbers, "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross" and "The Church in the Wildwood."

William Farley was guest speaker and showed numerous slides and movies on the beauty spots in southern Illinois.

G. C. Benson gave the invocation and Omer Owens the benediction.

Singer Gisele MacKenzie Weds

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Singer Gisele MacKenzie and her manager, Robert Shuttleworth, 41, were married early today in the Presidential Suite of the Flamingo Hotel.

The couple flew to this gambling resort from Hollywood Sunday night, took out a marriage license and were wed by District Judge Frank McNamee about two hours later.

The wedding climaxed a six year romance of the 31-year-old songstress and Shuttleworth, who has been her manager for 12 years. This was Gisele's first marriage. Shuttleworth was divorced in Toronto, Canada, in 1950.

Illinois Group Urges Graduated State Income Tax

MONTICELLO, Ill. — A constitutional amendment to open the door for a state graduated income tax has been endorsed by a group of 40 leaders in government, business, agriculture, education and other fields.

The income tax proposal was included in the final report Sunday of the "Illinois Assembly on State Government" sponsored by the University of Illinois and Columbia University.

The income tax proposal, however, did not receive unanimous approval.

The assembly also urged that the state school aid program be "further strengthened," that the state constitution be changed to permit classification of property for taxation purposes, and that there be "better administration of the property tax."

The assembly also urged approval of the judicial reform amendment to be submitted to the voters in November.

Recommended that the Legislature meet every year, instead of every two years, but that the session in even-numbered years be devoted only to budget matters.

Urged that the state ballot be shortened by making the superintendent of public instruction, the University of Illinois trustees, the state treasurer and state auditor appointive, rather than elected, officers.

Suggested that the township form of government be abolished.

Suggested that the Legislature give consideration to creating a state board of education, and a state board of higher education to administer all state colleges and universities.

Suggested that the Legislature consider creating a new department of mental health.

Food May Prove Decisive in Cold War: Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon told the National Food Conference today that "food may well prove to be a more decisive weapon than satellites" in the cold war struggle with Russia.

Nixon substituted for President Eisenhower in addressing more than 750 leaders in nutrition, medicine, agriculture, education and food distribution, meeting here to discuss the nation's eating habits and how to improve them.

Nixon spoke at a "land of plenty" breakfast that Eisenhower originally had been scheduled to address under arrangements made last summer. The White House cancelled the President's address last Thursday.

Nixon told the conference: "Food may well prove to be a more decisive weapon than satellites in this struggle going on in the world, with the Soviets on one side and the free world on the other."

Nixon said the United States has the "greatest advantage" over Russia in "this major field" of food and food distribution. He said that Russia is falling down in the field of food distribution.

3 Helicopters Crash; 6 Killed

RED BLUFF, Calif. — An Army investigator suspects the reason three big Army helicopters crashed near here Saturday with a loss of six lives was that the pilots got dizzy flying in dense fog.

This was the opinion of Col. Frank G. Forest, who returned here late Sunday after a day-long investigation at the crash scene 15 miles east of Red Bluff. Forest belongs to the 6th Army's aviation section at the San Francisco Presidio.

The H-21 helicopters were part of a flight of seven comprising the 57th Helicopter Company, which was transferring from Ft. Riley, Kan., to Ft. Lewis, Wash. At the time of the crash, they had just taken off from Chico, Calif., and were heading for Medford, Ore.

They were apparently flying at 200 to 300 feet when a thick fog bank enveloped them "before they had a chance to avoid it," Forest said.

Two of the 'copters struck a hillside, caught fire immediately and trapped their three-man crews in the flaming wreckage. The third 'copter hit a fairly flat area. The three men crawled out with only minor injuries.

U.S., Britain Sign Missile Pact

LONDON — The United States and Britain announced today conclusion of a space age pact for construction of four American nuclear missile bases in this country capable of blasting every major Soviet target in wartime.

The agreement was signed in Washington Saturday by U. S. Assistant Secretary of State Christian Herter and British Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia.

The agreement to station 1,500-mile missiles in Britain provides that they will be fired at enemy targets only after a "joint decision" by the two governments.

The United States will provide nuclear warheads for Thor missiles. But all nuclear warheads at missile bases in Britain will remain under full American control.

This was the first pact concluded by the United States with one of its Atlantic Treaty Allies for construction of medium range missile bases with a 1,500-mile range in Western Europe.

The United States currently is negotiating a similar agreement with France.

Mississippi Ice Dam Broken

ST. LOUIS — A dam of ice that trapped barges and blocked Mississippi river traffic last week was completely broken up today.

More than 100 towboats tied up below Cairo, Ill., began the upstream journey through softened ice floes that had created a gorge extending above Cairo to mile 43.

Col. Charles B. Schweizer, Army district engineer, said he would inspect damage to pile dikes today while Army and Coast Guard vessels finished setting buoys marking the channel.

Ice had swept away many buoys and dropped the water level at Cairo where a number of barges were left aground. But the level was rapidly returning to normal, Schweizer said, as water pressure behind the ice pushed it past the junction of the Mississippi and Ohio rivers.

The Weather Bureau at Cairo, Ill., said there is no danger of floods in southern Illinois.

The Mississippi River at Cape Girardeau, Mo., dropped from 11.9 feet on Saturday to 6.7 feet Sunday. At Cairo, the Ohio was at 15.4 feet today, a drop of 2.1 feet in the last 24 hours. Flood stage at Cairo is 40 feet.

At Mount Carmel, Ill., on the Indiana border, the Wabash river was at 3 feet today and still dropping. Flood stage there is 17 feet.

Mt. Carmel Man Heads Illinois UP Editors Ass'n

JACKSONVILLE, Ill. — The United Press Illinois Newspaper Editors Assn. Saturday elected Homer H. Murray, news editor of the Mount Carmel Republican Register, as its president.

Murray succeeds Robert E. Greenaway, editor and publisher of the De Kalb Daily Chronicle. Charles Morrow, of the Galesburg Register Mail, and Willard Hansen, of the Champaign News-Gazette, were elected vice presidents.

The UPINE met here in conjunction with the fifth annual MacMurray College newspaper conference.

Anita Colby, former actress and model and now head of Women's News Service, and Milburn P. Akers, executive editor of the Chicago Sun-Times, addressed the meeting.

Attorney Tells of Loans to Mack; Says He Rejected Fee in TV Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thurman A. Whiteside, a Miami, Fla., attorney, testified today that he has loaned FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack $7,830 and that he asked Mack to vote for National Airline's application for a Miami TV Channel.

Whiteside, a life-long friend of Mack, said he rejected a $10,000 fee to talk to Mack on behalf of National Airlines. He said he did the job free.

Whiteside said he refused to accept a fee in the case because he did not believe it was proper to be paid as an attorney to speak to "a friend in high public office on behalf of another friend."

He felt that had he accepted a fee, "it might become a source of embarrassment to me and to Mr. Mack."

But Whiteside denied charges by Bernard Schwartz, ousted counsel of the house investigating subcommittee before which he testified, that he was a National Airlines "fixer" and gave Mack a $2,650 "payoff" in return for his vote.

He said the money was part of $7,830 he has loaned to Mack since they were both 18 years of age. He added that all but $250 of the loans has been repaid by check or in cash as of last Jan. 29.

Testifying under oath before the legislative oversight subcommittee, Whiteside denounced Schwartz as an "unmitigated liar" and said the former committee counsel knew he bore "false witness" in making these and other charges.

He accused Schwartz of using "the big lie" technique to spread "half truths, innuendos, distortions, omissions and deliberate misrepresentations."

"His actions," Whiteside said, "evidenced a depraved person who is utterly low, base and irresponsible to the highest degree."

Mack voted to give the channel to a National Airlines subsidiary when the FCC overturned its own field examiners' recommendation that the channel be awarded to Col. A. Frank Katzentine, a Miami radio station owner.

Whiteside also denied a "true" Schwartz statement that he (Whiteside) was "employed" by National Airlines.

Whiteside said he was not employed by National Airlines.

Believe Soviets Explode Nuclear Weapon in Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia exploded a large nuclear weapon Sunday, the U. S. government reported Sunday night. Japanese reports led to speculation it might have been an upper atmosphere or outer-space test of an intercontinental missile with an H-bomb warhead.

The official U. S. announcement, like most previous American disclosures of Soviet nuclear blasts, was brief. The one-paragraph statement said:

"Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, stated that the Soviets had conducted a nuclear weapons test today (Sunday) in Soviet territory. The yield of the test was in the megaton range." A megaton is the equivalent of one million tons of TNT.

The report did not indicate whether the test was an atomic or hydrogen weapon.

Japanese scientists, who first reported word of the Red nuclear test, said later the device had the same power as a "new design" hydrogen bomb and Russians tested last Oct. 6.

The Soviet news agency Tass described the Oct. 6 blast as "carried out at great altitudes" and said the bomb was of "new design."

A major purpose of exploding an H-bomb in space, possibly above the earth's atmosphere, would be to dissipate its nuclear "fallout" and remove the hazard to populated areas. The United States, under pressure from Russia, India and others to cease nuclear tests, has been trying to perfect a "clean" H-bomb that would lose little if any radioactive fallout on the earth's surface.

Labor Dep't Says Unemployment Rise Slows Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Labor Department spokesman said today the rise in U. S. unemployment may be coming to a halt — although it's too early to tell for sure.

Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell said earlier he believes the administration will recommend a tax cut if joblessness continues to climb next month. He said most cabinet members feel the same way.

However, Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson said only that his department has the question of a tax cut "under constant study and review." He said he had not yet prepared any "package" proposal for a tax reduction.

A top Labor Department employment expert reported that new claims for unemployment benefits have been going down, although not as rapidly as usual this season as in recent years. He said claims for jobless benefits apparently "are not going any deeper" and the worst that can be expected now is that claims will level off at a "pretty high" level.

Mitchell said reports indicate about 4,700,000 Americans are jobless this month.

"It's hard to tell at this point whether we're going to start pulling out," the expert said, "but figures indicate we're not headed toward a depression-type nosedive."

He added that it will be another six weeks or two months before the government can be sure that employment will pick up in the normal seasonal pattern.

Further River Trips Assured for Delta Queen; to Follow Old Routes

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Delta Queen, last of the great river passenger steamboats, was assured today of making further trips on the Ohio, Tennessee and Mississippi rivers.

Mrs. Letha Greene, owner, said a group of investors from the Atlantic and Pacific coasts have made a $5,000 down payment on the boat. Mrs. Greene, wife of the late riverboat Capt. Tom Greene, said the Queen had been saved by Richard C. Simonton, president of the Muzak-Affiliated Pacific Network of Los Angeles, Edwin J. Quincy of Summit, N. J., and his son, Jack R. Quincy of New York.

She said Simonton assured her the steamwheel would continue to call Cincinnati her home port. She also said the boat would follow on its old routes and schedules.

A trip to the Kentucky Derby on May 2 will be the vessel's first voyage under the new ownership. On May 10 she will go on a 20-day Mississippi River cruise to New Orleans.

The boat was put up for sale last month by Mrs. Greene who said she was forced to sell part of her holdings in the vessel because of lack of bookings. The annual down-river trip to the New Orleans Mardi Gras was cancelled for lack of interest this year.

Mrs. Greene said she recently went to Los Angeles to negotiate with 20th Century-Fox Studios about doing a television series on the Delta Queen.

The Greene family bought the steamwheel in San Francisco at the end of World War II and sailed her through the Panama Canal and up the river to Cincinnati. During the war she was used to ferry troops in the San Francisco Bay area.

Bull Dogs Race to 98-90 Victory at Anna

Locals Shoot at .518 Clip In Final Tilt of Season; Stone's 33 Tops Scoring

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs, again displaying a red hot shooting percentage, raced to a 98-90 victory over the Ann-Jonesboro Wildcats Saturday in a thrilling basketball game played on the Anna floor.

The contest was the last regularly scheduled game of the season for the Bull Dogs, who will not play again until the third game of the regional basketball tournament to be played at Eldorado during the week of March 3. The Eldorado Eagles will be the locals' opponent in the opening round of the tournament.

The Bull Dogs Saturday night shot .518 in downing the Wildcats who had a shooting percentage of .374. It was a complete turnaround to the locals' 209 percentage in the loss to Mt. Vernon Friday night.

Both teams scored in the double figures in every quarter to run up a total of 188 points for the game.

Harrisburg forward, John Stone, who was the game's leading scorer with 33 points, and Anna's Jenkins, with 26 points, displayed a close scoring duel in the opening quarter. Jenkins, with 14 points in the period, paced the Wildcats to a 28-24 lead in the opening frame, during which Stone made 13 points in the racehorse quarter.

The Bull Dog scoring picked up even more in the second period during which time they scored 29 points to the Wildcats' 16 to lead 53 to 44 at the half.

Shooting percentages in the first half were 47.8 for Harrisburg and 31.1 for the Wildcats.

Scoring continued at a torrid pace in the third period with the Wildcats adding 27 points to the Bull Dogs' 20 to pull within two points of the locals' as the quarter ended, 73-71. Harrisburg made 10 baskets, shooting 45.5 during the period, during which time the locals did not make a free throw in the light fouling quarter. Shooting was really hot in the final period until midway in the quarter the Bull Dogs pulled away and ended the game with an 8-point lead. The lead changed a couple of times until the locals went ahead and stayed there. At one time the locals led 80-79, then Anna took the lead, 81-80, again led 83-82, the last time for the opponents to be ahead.

Following Stone and Jenkins as the game's top scorers were Hassett with 23 and Jones with 20 for the Bull Dogs and Pitts with 19 and Wiggs with 18 for the Wildcats.

The Bull Pups also were running Saturday night and scored a 90-60 victory over the Anna-Jonesboro junior varsity squad.

Wildcats Beat Eagles, 74-65

Eldorado Puts Up Terrific Battle in Hope for Upset

Underdog Eldorado put up a terrific battle for three quarters Saturday night against heavily-favored Carrier Mills and the small crowd on hand had visions of witnessing an upset. But the Wildcats took control in the final frame and racked up a 74-65 decision.

The Cats, with two games remaining on schedule, have a record of 21-1. Eldorado has completed its regular schedule and the Eagles won 2 and dropped 22.

Play was slow and deliberate, but still 53 fouls were whistled, with 29 against Eldorado and 24 on Carrier Mills.

The game was decided at the free throw line, with Carrier Mills hitting 32 and missing 12 times and Eldorado was successful 21 times and missed 15 from the charity stripe.

After an even first half—32-32—Carrier Mills held a 53-49 third-quarter lead and extended the margin by five points in the last quarter for the 74-65 victory.

Vern Rollins paced the Cats to victory with 31 points and sophomore teammate Gary Taborn had 16.

Eldorado's top scorer was Leonard Willis with 22. Two others—McMahon 16 and Fowler 10—were in double figures.

The preliminary game also went to the visiting Carrier Mills cagers by a 54-49 score. At the end of regulation time the score was knotted 45-45, then the Wildcats took over and outscored the young Eagles 9-4 in the three minute overtime.

Tonight Carrier Mills plays at Anna and closes the regular season by hosting Metropolis Saturday.

Spartans' Lead at Stake in Tilt with Purdue Tonight on Boilermakers' Home Court

CHICAGO — Michigan State's one game lead in the Big Ten basketball race goes up for grabs tonight at Purdue.

The Spartans, although fresh from a fourth straight conference success in Saturday night's 93-57 rout of Wisconsin, were pegged a slight underdog.

Their hosts at Lafayette, Ind., will have the important home court advantage plus a psychological edge in seeking to avenge a 9-point loss to the Spartans early in January.

A Purdue victory would tie up the lead again, giving each contender an 8-4 slate in league campaigning. A Michigan State win, on the other hand, would put the Spartans in an enviable spot in the race for the title. But it would fail to eliminate the chances of Purdue—or Indiana Iowa, and even possibly North western.

What little remained of the schedule proved to be of small help in figuring the 1958 champion. On a home court basis, it was a standoff between the two front runners.

The Boilermakers travel to Indiana next Saturday and then return for the windup March 3 against Iowa. The Spartans close with Indiana March 8, but meanwhile are scheduled for a road venture against Iowa.

The two third-place occupants— Iowa and Indiana—have three games to go after tonight and each faces about the same level of competition. The Hawkeyes face Northwestern on the Wildcat campus tonight, then travel to Michigan State and Purdue before finishing at home March 8 with Michigan.

The Hoosiers entertain Michigan tonight and Purdue on Saturday afternoon, travelling to East Lansing, Mich., to close the campaign against the Spartans. Michigan State's 93 points

Celtics Clinch Division Tie

By United Press
The Boston Celtics clinched at least a tie for their second straight Eastern Division crown in the National Basketball Association—and appropriately, Bob Cousy was the chap who did the clinching.

Cousy whipped in four straight baskets in the closing minutes Sunday to give the Celtics a 99-97 victory over the Philadelphia Warriors at Providence, R. I. Cousy, hampered by an injured leg much of this season, put on one of his old-time shows with a game-high of 30 points.

The second-place Syracuse Nationals stayed technically alive in the race by beating St. Louis, 101-92. In the only other league game, the Cincinnati Royals beat Minneapolis, 111-93, to snap a six-game losing streak.
